CAUTION

Every decision a person makes, including the decision to get out of bed in the morning, has some degree of risk associated with it. We strongly believe that each competent adult must set for themselves the level of risk he or she is willing to accept. Some avoid crossing streets in heavy traffic—others stunt-ride motorcycles without a helmet. However, to intelligently confront and accept risk, a person must understand the dangers. While Drummer hopes to educate its readers on a wide variety of topics, its main purpose is to entertain! Works of fiction presented in this magazine are just that—fiction! They are not in any way intended to suggest or describe activities that anyone should—or often could—actually do. They are meant for entertainment only. In other than fictional pieces, we will emphasize safe sex with respect to contagious diseases, and safe and sane behavior with respect to all activities, and will try to point out all activities which deviate from recognized safe-sex and safe-and-sane play activities. However, Desmodus, Inc., its officers and stockholders, the editors and staff of Drummer, columnists, authors, artists and other contributors to this publication and other organs of Desmodus, Inc., cannot be held responsible for accidents, injuries or other or improper application of information imparted or ideas generated by materials in Drummer, or from Desmodus, Inc. products.

MALE CALL

In a decade of AIDS where perhaps thousands of your readers have lost lovers and friends, to this dreaded disease, I just can't imagine why or how the cartoonist and members of your staff could find any humor in the cartoon depicted on page 48 of Drummer 156 (i.e...."of course, you have a right to wear a veil... I'm just not sure it goes with chaps")

The cartoon was sick, shallow, outrageous, insensitive and unforgiveable. The only place you would expect to see this cartoon would be in some homophobic hate magazine, but in Drummer it's a slap against all of us—especially those of us who have lost lovers and friends to AIDS.

Where, for God's sake, was your staff when they okayed this piece of shit? Were you all out getting laid, perhaps?

Al/Chicago

Honestly, Al, I don't know how to answer you. As a person who has lost a great boy and well over 100 friends and acquaintances to AIDS, I found the Donelan cartoon soothing and interesting, maybe not knee-slapping funny. My boy, Scott, who died in June, had kept a copy of the same cartoon on the wall of his bedroom since his previous lover died of AIDS... until we moved in together.

I guess, when it comes to things as personal and difficult as dealing with death, different ones of us are helped differently—and differently offended, too. Sorry you were offended, but I am not sorry to have published the cartoon.

JWB

Your story of the playroom by Parker is a terrific story but you describe in your story a man in tight jeans and sneakers, in a leather western bar, picked up by a leatherman after speaking on the phone. This situation can get worse, the leather and western bars want only that, leather and western, not sneakers and jeans. You are going to give ideas to all people that don't own leather that it's O.K. to come to leather bars and find the hot leather daddy that they want. In your story the character should have had boots on, but no, you chose sneakers. Why?

The leather bars have lost the flavor of leather, and trying to keep up with leather and western bars the tradition of leather. Now when you go to leather bars 80% is vanilla, all pastel cloths and bright cloths. I've been in leather for 20 years. Lets keep the stories going, but please, let the fluff stay at those bars.

Also very few leathermen today pick-up novices in a bar without a stitch of leather. They want a guy experienced so when a cat-o-nine tails comes down on a guy's ass he doesn't scream "ouch" or "stop it, it hurts."

This is the 90s let's live for today, for yesteryear is just a memory.

Ron/N.Y.C.

Yes, yesteryear is just a memory, one I would love to see revived in so far as leather codes for leather bars is concerned anyway. Nonetheless, I have to see something like a character wearing sneakers into a leather bar in a piece of fiction as part of the writer's definition of the character. Unless he seems to be out of control of his characters and his language, I wouldn't change it. In this case, we decided Parker had made a conscious choice.

JWB

As usual, I enjoyed the latest Cavelo drawing on page 79 of Drummer 156. (A French backwoodsman from 1634 staked out by some playful Iroquois.)

But, rather than simply having some twigs placed atop the backwoodsman's cock and balls, couldn't Cavelo have added a little flame and smoke here?

Respectfully—Alvin Easter

Sure, Cavelo could have added the fire to his drawing, but he left it to your imagination, and you obviously imagined it very effectively. Besides, by drawing the moment before the flames began, he was able to show us something more of the genitals. Again, his choice.

I do not want to renew my subscription. I mean, come on, let's get these guys out of grease, cigars, wax, and chains etc...

Thanks, but no thanks.

Brad/San Francisco

So, Brad, what did you want? Seriously, it would be a lot easier to deal with don't if we also heard the do. But, with no grease, cigars, wax, chains... What would you like to see your leathermen play at, in, with?

JWB

Please—no women in Drummer or Tough Customers! A verbal reference or a photo of women (especially in leather) kills a hard-on.

Jake/PA

The overwhelming majority of our mail about the women Tough Customers we published has been in agreement with Jake. So, to prove our constant assertion that we want to publish what you want to see, no more women in TCs. Of course, as the leather community, nationally, continues to become more and more pansexual, there are bound to be women in the reports and, very likely, the photos in sections like the Leather Bulletin Board. News sections, though, are not exactly one-handed reading anyway.

NEW LEATHER? by Joseph W. Bean

We hear a lot these days about the differences—usually conflicts—between Old Leather and New Leather. The terms are used widely, but they seem to refer to very different groups of people when used by different speakers in different circumstances. Maybe that doesn't really hurt anyone, but it also doesn't contribute to understanding across the various real and imaginary lines, on the overall map of the leather/SM/fetish communities.

Naturally as the editor of Drummer I have to think about the words leathersmen use because I need to know how to use them in print. Listening carefully, I've discovered that the Old Guard is relatively well defined, although there is often a lot of unwarranted emotional baggage dropped on it. Still, whether guys feel "cheated" because they missed out on its heyday, or feel threatened because they still see too much of it around, the Old Guard/Old Leather/Traditional Leather Community is seen as a rigidly structured, merit-reward, mistake-punishment social structure, based on a system of military-style ranking of initiated men. Depending where they came out, and when, and whether they value order or detest it, the different men see the details of Traditional Leather very differently, but "everyone" knows it's other than his own idea of New Leather.

For some men the introduction of their own favored non-leather material, such as rubber or spandex, is all it takes to rebel sufficiently against the Old and become a representative of New Leather. Others say switching roles Top to bottom or wearing "primitive" tattoos or body jewelry does the trick. Still others will tell you the hallmark of New Leather is that it accommodates long-haired boys, women, lesbians, heterosexuals, or transvestites, or all of the above. Other guys argue that recognition of the spiritual elements in leathersex moves a man from Old to New, or that negotiating safe sane scenes to which the bottom consents does it. And most surprisingly—to me, at least—a growing number of men will tell you the distinction between Old and New Leather is nothing more than a question of age.

The more I hear, the less I believe there is a cohesive entity that can be called New Leather. When I took the problem to bed with me one night, puzzling over it as though the elusive answer were going to spell itself out on my bedroom ceiling, I hit on what feels like the truth: There is nothing new about New Leather. The range of people who are into radical sex/SM, who do what is included in the broadest definition of leathersex, is not all that different in 1992 than it was in 1964 when I first let myself be strung up and beaten. Although I didn't know about them until several years later, there were already circles of "unwashed," leather-wearing, long-haired bikers in the sixties. They were rejecting the military standards of the group I knew, and doing it all their way. They liked being thought of as rebels, and—as I now know—they switched Top-bottom roles, played in mud and grease, and mixed fringes and feathers with their heavy, protective leathers.

By 1972 I was aware of SM people who were incorporating some version of Native American rituals into what we today call their play parties. Barely ten years later, tattoo conventions, bike gatherings, and the no longer uncommon leather bars were demonstrating various levels of tolerance for people who, today, would identify themselves as New Leather.

Leather bars, strictly organized bike clubs, and certain kinds of social organizations had developed among the men the "Old Guard," but the other ways of being a Leatherman also already existed. It's just that the style of the now-traditional leather community supported the establishment of "permanent" institutions—the bars, clubs, etc.—while the less structured communities were, by definition, not participants in that structuring.

So just as liberal politics were not invented by the hippies of the '60s, New Leather was not invented by the rebels of the late '80s. There is nothing new under the sun, even in leather. There is a difference now, though, but it is not a new breed of leatherman. It is a new level of willingness in all the leather communities to merge and accommodate each other, which naturally points up the differences between the groups, and elicits resistance from those who are uncomfortable with the new union.

For myself, I have worked out the compromise I can live with: I want a traditional relationship at home, I'm hoping there will always be at least a few clubs and public meeting places where the traditions I admire will be respected, and I am ready to work at maintaining my chosen lifestyle in close, cooperative, and mutually supportive conjunction with the men and women of the evolving commonwealth of leather nations. I have no fear that my leather "homeland" will dissolve as it alternately stands apart from the new order for privacy and pleasure and links-up for social and political purposes.

In other words, my life can go on as it does, but with a broader and ever-widening range of friends, playmates, and co-workers.

The changes we're seeing are not only inevitable, then. They are essential to the strength of all leather/SM communities. They need not threaten either the traditional leathermen (who have a lot to offer) nor the "rebels" of all stripes (who also have important contributions to make).

What of Drummer? It will continue to be what its readers want. At the moment, that seems to mean more variety, drawing from and reporting on a wide range of leather/SM/fetish communities, young and old, "new" and traditional. And it seems that both Traditional Leather and Experimental Leather have secure places in the lives and fantasies of Drummer readers.

TOY

PLAYING WITH FIRE

Text and Photographs by Frits Staal

If you still think that Asians are little, small built, passive, effeminate, etc., TOY is there to refute your prejudices. His name does not mean "toy." It is Thai, as is his smile.

Lighting candles is a common ritual in Thai Buddhist temples, but the fascination with fire as a purifying agent which also tests a man's strength is almost universal. TOY enjoys it. Is he also into leather? A more ethnocentric question, but not without interest.

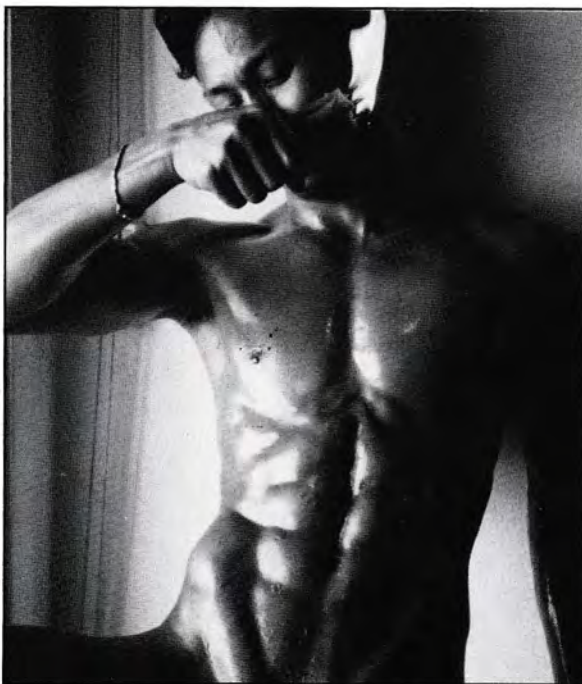

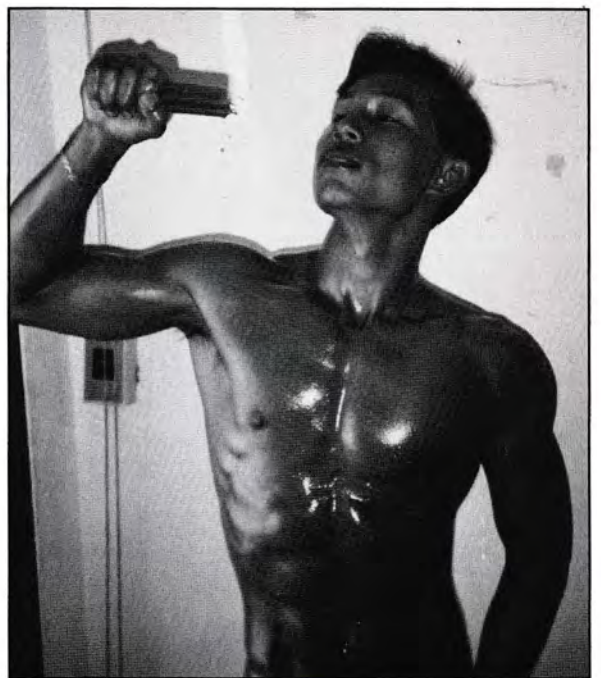

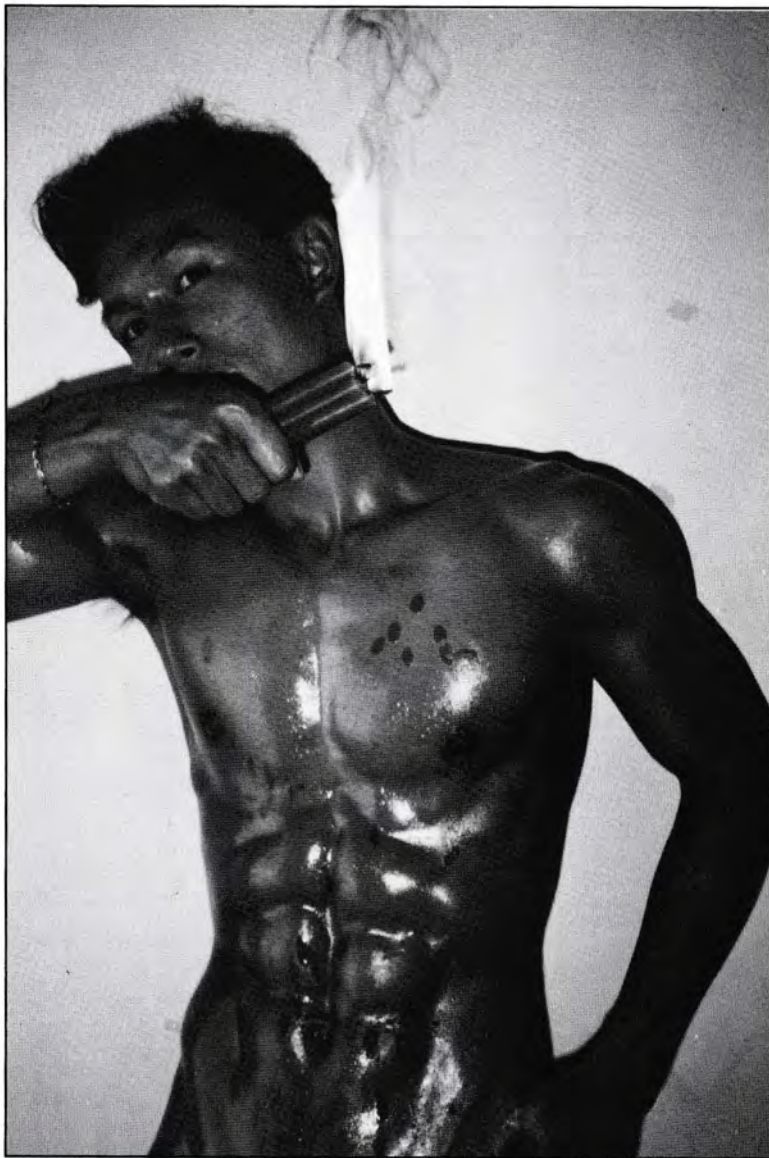

Wearing animal skins and spreading them over rough ground go back to early stages of human evolution. In India, Siva wears a tiger skin, sometimes only a snake, and many vegetarian sages still sit on skins. Not Buddha, who sat on a lotus seat, impassive but not passive. He had been a good archer, and martial arts were carried by Buddhist monks from India via China and Korea to Japan.

The invention of trousers comes from the nomads of Central Asia who needed them to ride horses and who also invented leather belts to tighten them around their bodies, along with leather boots, whips, and perhaps chaps (the American term comes from Mexican Spanish chaparejos). When their horses needed new grasslands, these hordes invaded Europe, India and China, where they introduced their inventions which were welcomed in cold, upstart Europe but resisted by the ancient Asian civilizations. The Chinese preferred silk robes and in India, which prefers cotton, leather is considered polluting. Visitors to Hindu temples not only have to take off their shoes, but must also leave leather belts and camera cases outside. In remote areas, shirts have to be removed, and trousers are prohibited.

Thailand is further east, more humid and tropical, and leather is less common. That does not prevent TOY from sporting it, like the Levis that are worn in many tropical countries even though they get very sticky on beaches and in jungles, as they do in discos.

The cockring is now Western but it was found in Southeast Asia and the Chinese also used it, preferably made from ivory. Traditional, no longer fashionable Thai customs show that piercing is more universal than leather. TOY has not tried the ancient method of penis piercing by porcupine quills, bamboo splints or metal pins, formerly inserted when young men were about 20 years old and worn for life, though they could be removed. This practice is now rarely found in Southeast Asia, including Thailand and Indonesian Kalimantan (Borneo), where it used to be said that sex without one or more such pins is like food without salt. That is not saying much in the United States where food is notoriously bland with doctors chipping in their halfpenny worth of advice. In South and Southeast Asia, salt is only the mildest of a range of spices that include hot chilies and peppers. I am saying, in other words, that Asians are hot.

A THAI LEATHERMAN
PLAYING WITH FIRE

SCUM-BAG!

Story by Richard A. White

Illustrated R.A.W.

"Keeping that beef behind the corral ... that's the hardest part. See they stand behind the ropes and get pissed off seeing the ones that get here early. We let them in to beef up the chow sales. These guys outside are standing in the fucking cold, cursing us for not letting them in. The early arrivals are nice and warm inside ... grazing at the snack bar. I work the ropes and no one ... I mean NO ONE gets in until I say so!" Eustachio ("Stash") was taking me through the job he did at the four theater cinema-complex. He had the body to keep anyone in line! Six feet high and almost as wide at the shoulders. His loud deep voice would halt any rope-crasher outside the theater ... no matter how cold it was! His piano-keys smile flashed under his namesake "Stash". He kept it perfectly trimmed just above his top lip. That thick pouty ginzo smile was framed in fur.

"You don't have to write this shit down, huh?" he asked as he led me inside the lobby. "No, I have a great memory, but I have a notebook just in case something complicated comes up and I need to make notes," I smiled at him. I was writing an article on today's movie houses and the kind of audiences who go to them. I knew what the magazine was hoping I would turn up. Stories of sex in the seats of the balcony or the bathrooms. That's why they sent me ... my steamy stories were splattered in all sorts of magazines and paperback books. I was asked to get a close-up view of the new movie-going public, A.V. = after VCR's. The theory being that VCR's had altered the way we see movies. I thought people always talked through movies, even B.V. = before VCR's. But I knew what the editor was interested in ... sex.

I asked Stash if he had ever seen anything "going on" in the back rows during the movie. "Nah ... only in the front row. People coming and going to the toilet and the snack bar would see anyone in the back rows. So they fuck around up front. And it's only at them times like late on a week-night or in the afternoon when most folks are at work," he grinned at me as we entered the auditorium. "Once I found a pair of panties, and a safe ... and a sock all soggy ... guess she used it to wipe off ... or wipe him off ... who knows? They were Puerto Rican anyway ... fucking pigs." His racism was uninhibited by the fact that the Puerto Rican usher was sweeping up popcorn, (and God knows what else!) from under the seats. Someone must have done something up in the front row, since the usher was scattering "puke stuff," that sawdust-type substance the use to pick up semi-liquid material. Stash didn't sweep, he proudly said. He was the muscle that kept them all in line, both staff and ticket holders alike.

The vest he wore was shiny on the back, straining, it seemed, to hold itself together over the wide span of Stash's shoulders. The seam in the back of his black pants was so taut that I could see a hint of flesh inside. No underwear. I smiled to myself. Stash was a classic ginzo heartbreaker. Certain of his power and his pork. He hunched over slightly, the kind of tough-guy-walk all jocks did in high school. On a man nearing thirty it was charmingly boyish. The only thing boyish about him! His bubble butt, his corded neck and shoulder muscles, his hair coated catcher's-mitt-hands ... all reeked of superman hormones bursting under the skin. He had a slight shadow of a beard on his face, making his face even more menacing to any would-be rope-crasher.

"I even had a broad flash me her beaver ... a split wet beaver ... all pink and shiny ... right there in that front seat!" he chuckled to me, whispering,

"an I would have done it with her too ... except she was black." He didn't fuck latinos or blacks ... what was his type of woman, I wondered? "Are you married, Stash?," I led into his sex life. "Hah ... Fuck about it! I've got enough problems. I have got a day job driving truck for a dress manufacture company.

Sandra's Sisters ... ever hear of them? Probable not, right?" he shrugged. "Anyway, I got a new car and this fucking shit-ass night job pays for it. Married? Jesus, who the fuck has the time for that?" I smiled. "Maybe you should have taken up that beaver offer ... at least you'd get laid," I probed more as we walked to the projection booth, I heard spools being rewound inside. "Nahhh ... I get enough ... most of the time ... how much is enough, right ... just a little more!" he laughed at his own joke. He tapped on the booth. I was expected. The manager had given them all my name. The projectionist grunted, nodded at me, and went back to work.

Union man. Put a gun in his hand and he'd be a great hit man in a mob film.

"Mario!" Stash shouted, guiding me in with an arm over my shoulder, "any hot pussy out there today?" He nudged my ribs with his knee sized elbow. Mario grunted, half-grinned then went back to watching the timer on his projector. "Mario's got the best view of the front row, way up here. And he can pull his pud and no one sees him, right Mario?" Mario was unamused. Union man. I made a note. Just to see what Mario would do. He darted an eye at my note pad, then back to work, unimpressed.

We left. "What about the toilets ... anything funny ever go on there?" I asked as we walked into the dark hallways to the restroom level. "I don't know ... I don't do toilets," he said seriously. It sounded like a remark in a gay bar and I snorted a laugh. He grinned, "that funny?" "Yeah ... in another context, it would be very funny," I smiled and patted his shoulder to assure him I wasn't laughing at him. Solid as chrome underneath. I asked him about people talking during the movie. "Fuck yes! Fucking think they're watching TV! Don't even fucking whisper ... just talk like I'm talking, you know?" I doubted that many people had the booming timber to their voices that he had, but a smile crept into my face. "Yeah ... I hear you," I said. "The repeaters ... they are the fucking worst, man! They see the fucking movie and come back again and keep saying stuff like 'Now watch this!' when their favorite part comes up ... assholes." I asked how he handled them. "I flash the fucking light right in their fucking puss and tell them 'shutup' ... gets the guys real embarrassed 'cause they know I ain't going to put up with that noise and he ain't going to try and muscle me ... I'm bigger than most." "I can see," I smiled at him. His rough edges and the unabashed pride in his looks disarmed me. I continually beamed at him. He had to notice. "They going to put any picture with your story? Like the theater or anything?" he asked as we sat in an empty back-row seat. The lights were on full and the powerful beauty of his features were spotlighted. Sun wrinkles sprayed around his eyes and a few scant white hairs grew out of his crown of black coils. His eyelashes were so thick they looked artificial. "I guess so ... depends on the theme I pick for the article. If I juice it up with sex, they'll probably put a naked body in there somewhere ... an erotic drawing of some kind." "Yeah?" his interest perked up. "What's the magazine called?" he asked.

I gave him the name of the magazine, which fortunately didn't have a faggot-sounding name like so many of them do. "Never heard of it," he said. "Well I'll get you a copy if they print the article," I scribbled a note, "I can send it here or to your home address." I waited for information. "Sure ... home is good. My Mother meets the mailman every day so nothing gets lifted from the box in front of the house", he said. He gave me an address in Brooklyn. Near the Navy yard.

You ought to come out sometime ... for dinner ... maybe you could bring the magazine with you ... if it ain't too dirty for my mom to see," he laughed at his joke. "It might be ... maybe I'll just send it to you. I used to live out in Brooklyn, by the way ... Washington Avenue ... right near Pratt Institute. I used to teach there." "Yeah? I know where that is ... pretty neighborhood. What did you teach?" "Figure drawing ... naked bodies, you know" I was beginning to talk in short slashes of words the way he did. He grinned, "yeah ... tough job but someone has to do it, right?" He chuckled at the cliché. "I might even be asked to draw something to go with the story I write. They do that sometimes." "Yeah? what would you draw?" he grinned and bugged open his eyes, wiggling his eyebrows up and down like Groucho. "Maybe a cock in a condom ... like the one in the story you told me of what they found on the floor." "A SCUMBAG!?" You'd draw a fucking scumbag?" he growled a howling laugh and banged his big body back in the chair. "OUT-FUCKING-RAGEOUS!" he shook his head and cupped a palm over his forehead. "Who would you get to pose for that?" he kept laughing.

A second went by in which I judged the sanity of telling him it was a gay publication. What the hell, so I wouldn't get invited for dinner! "Well it's a gay magazine .. so any big cock would do." I smiled His laid-back howling didn't stop. He looked at me, "No shit ... far out! You mean me talking to you is going to end up in a gay magazine?" He still laughed and shook his head. "Yes .. of course I can change your name," I stammered deliberately, acting vulnerable and apologetic. "You better fucking use my name ... hell, when am I ever going to be in a magazine? Use the name, man ... use it. Spell it right E-U-S-T-A-C-C-H-I-O R-O-M-A-N-O! Stash for short!" I wrote as he spoke, right under his address. "And if you need something long, you can draw my cock!" he bellowed now rocking in his seat. "I might take you up on that," I said softly, still writing on my pad, "how big is it?" "Nine .. fat and big balls," he glanced around the empty theater and unzipped. His fat hooded hog plopped into his hands and he shook it at me. "Big enough?" he grinned challengingly as he stuffed it back inside his pants. "Big enough," I said. "Ever find cock rings on the floor here?" I wanted to keep the topic of sex going, both for my article and for myself! "Nope ... heard one hit the floor once though ... guess he wasn't as big as he thought!" He laughed again. He knew what cock rings were, so he wasn't completely unsophisticated ginzo.

to draw his cock stunned me.

"I used one once ... almost had to cut through the fucking metal to get it off ... my cock was almost black with blood after fucking so long ... had to run cold water over my hard-on to get it the fuck off!" he laughed. "I was thinking I'd put that in the drawing if they say I can do it," I said in my best business voice, "especially since you said one hit the floor in here. I can slip that in." "Or ON," he laughed. I laughed with him. He rubbed my shoulder, "You're OK, Rich ... you're a funny bright guy," his grin was dazzlingly white. Big thick perfect teeth. "And if you need my cock ... it's all yours." "When do you get through here?" I asked with a leading glimmer to my eyes. "Ten o'clock show gets out at midnight. Then my ass is out of here!" he said. "Well ... my studio's on 23rd street. I'll make up something to eat ... and I'll immortalize that thing with a safe and a ring on it." "You got it," he held out his hand. His unabashed pride that I wanted to draw his cock stunned me. No upset in his eyes or his voice.

Sheer male cockiness! I shook his hand, and wanted to touch even more.

I quickly wrote down my studio's address and placed it in his hand. Hard, thick hands, a truckers strength, loading and unloading dresses had given him such powerful hands ... that made me grin. I finished up my movie house tour, made a few notes on the subway, and headed to my studio. I stopped on the way and bought three shiny new cock rings ... large. And a dozen condoms, in case he broke a few. Remembering that floppy sausage, I figured he'd go through at least two of them! The studio was clean but in it's usual cluttered state. I cleared piles of magazines from the unmade bed and tugged it into shape. I checked the refrigerator. I hadn't been there for three days. The milk had turned and the bread was hard. I made a list of what I'd need to make dinner for Stash. I presumed any thing with tomato sauce would do. I went out into the cool May night and found myself humming. I realized it had been almost three months since I'd had sex. I also realized I was anticipating sex with Eustacchio, tonight. Odd how the heart knows things before the mind catches up with it. I prepared myself for the worst ... a black eye and no sex. And hoped for the best: sex and no black eye! Somewhere in the middle, I reasoned, would be what would happen: He'd get it hard, I'd photograph it, he'd eat dinner with me, thank me, and leave. No sex. And no black eye.

Stirring the pasta sauce, I had another realization. I'd had more sex in this studio than in my apartment. Wasn't an artist's studio supposed to be his haven from the world? Why didn't I take people home to my apartment, then? I knew why. I didn't take strangers home ... only people I knew and trusted. Too much of value lay there for the taking. Any artwork or photographs finished here in the studio were taken home. My heart knew I didn't trust what would happen with Eustacchio, and I didn't want him to know where I lived. Now wasn't that a shitty thought! Here he'd given me his address in Brooklyn ... his mother's home ... and invited me to dinner with her! And I didn't trust him. I looked for my note pad and called the number he'd given me. A woman's voice answered. I asked for Eustacchio. "Junior? No ... he work tonight. Who this?" she asked. I hung up feeling not a little shamed by my lack of trust—in-bred survival emotions in Manhattan. She had sounded so Italian and so strong, also built-in emotions. And Eustacchio had sounded so open and trusting towards me. He could afford those emotions. He was six feet tall and over two hundred pounds of solid, broad-beamed, big-boned man. I hoped he'd like my sauce. I laughed at myself and the array of feelings he'd unleashed in me. I had been so busy working and creating and commuting from studio to home, that my life had nothing of the unexpected in it. Nothing of passion and hope. Some artist. And then the buzzer rang.

I buzzed the door when I heard the voice. Even the little squawk-box on my door buzzer couldn't diminish that voice. "HEY! IT'S STASH!" I dimmed the overhead spots in the studio. It needed paint but dimmers hide multitudes of neglectful sins. The darkness of the night hid the much-in-need-of-cleaning windows. I again realized how much I wanted him to like me, to think I was worthwhile knowing. The door opened. Stash had changed from his dreary black-and-white usher uniform to a tight pair of jeans, well worn between the thighs, and a loose-fitting football pullover. With the arms rolled up and the collar loose, I saw that hairs sprouted over his forearms and coated the base of his neck. My legs went weak.

"Heeeyyy! Ginzo food," he shook my hand sniffing the tomato-filled air. "Big place ... you live here or just work here?" he was being polite. I said, "Just work. My apartment's in Little Italy. Rent controlled. But not big enough to mess up with artwork. Hungry?" He flopped on the bed, it was the only seat in the room with any hope of supporting him. "You got that right, I never eat that shit in the movie's snack-bar," he said. He leaned back on one elbow, swelling out his biceps. He knew what he had and that I liked it. He grinned. "Before I fill you up with food, why don't we shoot what I need to draw that picture?" I was being as direct and business-like as possible, for someone with a huge lump in his throat. "Sure ... what do I have to do?" he sat up, actually eager to find out what he'd have to do. I picked up the props I'd bought. "Slip your three piece set through these," I said, as I handed him the cock rings, "and then slide one of these on. I have some lubricant that'll make it slip on easier, and make it shine for the camera." I waited for some resistance. None. With the diligence of a child eager to please a parent, he stood and dropped his pants. I started setting up the lights, catching quick glances of his body. That pair of legs! Thick, round, hairy columns, veins even on his thighs! I decided I needed a longer look, so I asked him, "Jesus, Stash, what do you do to get such powerful legs?" He beamed, still slipping his meat through the three cock rings, "lots of bike riding and basketball, and about five generations of peasant farmers trudging through the fucking mud." He laughed and so did I, gulping at the sight of his body. His balls were so fat and the sack so loose, they barely fit through the rings. He methodically continued stuffing the metal loops. I set the lights up and perspired.

"You want to have my shirt off, right ... otherwise it'll hang down and cover my meat," he asked. "Stash there's not enough cloth on fourteenth street to hide that meat ... yeah... shirt off." He had all three rings on by now and raised his arms. His belly was a little round but so furry it didn't matter. Bellies are a sign of health these days, in some circles. But the pièce de résistance was his chest. Big hairy pontoons of muscle, with dark silver-dollar sized nipples. They were barely visible, for all that they were big and protruding, under that rug that covered his chest. "Your not doing a lot for my self-esteem, Stash," I stared at his now naked body. The lights went on and he grinned that fucking beaut of a smile. "I like your head, Richard ... right to the point," he smiled. "Now give me that lube and I'll slide that snakeskin on." His cock was already semi-hard and lengthening from the pressure of the rings on his groin. "You want me to sit or stand or what?" he asked. He was lubing his fat horn and it was harder and longer by the second. "Standing ... no ... wait ... sit ... because we have to make it seem it's happening in the seat in the front of the movie screen, right?" I coaxed him. He grinned even wider. "If I took this fucker out in the front row it would make a shadow on the fucking screen!" he chuckled and started to slide the safe on. It ripped right at the lip. "Got anything in a larger size, chief?" he said. I pulled open a foil on another and handed it to him. "This is as big as they come ... no pun intended," he laughed anyway at my sly remark. "Well ... let's try again ... Jezzz, these things make all the fucking veins stand out like crazy ... look at that!" I stared, "my eyes aren't on anything else, Stash." He looked into my eyes and saw the real frustration and desire that was there. "Guess I ain't being very fair, huh?" He was almost apologetic for having such a fat hard-on. "Life ain't fair, Stash. Look at all God gave to you that He didn't spread around." He glanced proudly at his cock. He slid another safe over it and it throbbed at his touch. "Yeah ... God was good to me ... and I spread it around for Him." He got it on without ripping it this time, "there you go ... success."

I aimed my camera and zoomed for a close-up. It was then that I realized that my own cock was slithering down my thigh. "Look down at it, Stash, and give it a good squeeze at the base. That's it ... hold real still." He was flopping it in his hand making clear focus impossible. "Sorry ... reflex action ... when it's hard I play with it ... this better?" He held it straight out at me, an arrow to my heart. "Perfect," I said and shot a whirling series of pictures. "Looks like you got a little reflex action going too ... not so little, either," said Stash. "Yep," I confessed, "they have minds of their own sometimes." He squeezed his cock at the base and the safe not only tore, but shot off his cock-head! "Heeeyyy! Bull's eye!" Stash said as the safe hit the nearby wall. "More like bull's balls," I kidded as I handed him another safe. He grinned, flashing obsidian-black eyes at me. He slipped the third safe on. "Whhhooooo! Getting that old familiar tingling feeling ... better get them shots down quick," he was almost whispering, as if he were afraid that talking too loud would make his cock shoot it's load. I zoomed in tight catching a gob of cock-lube squirting out of his piss-hole. My own cock throbbed as I got closer to him. I finished the roll of film, 36 big close-ups of his fat hard-on. They would keep my hand and mind busy for months to cum.

"Done?" he almost seemed disappointed. "Yep ... got what I need," I set down my camera and turned out the hot lights. "I don't think so," Stash said. I turned and looked at him, and he'd ripped off the safe, still toying with his dribbling boner. "I think we should spread around some of God's gifts ... looks like you need it." He stared at my crotch and then at my eyes. "Man, I don't mind who's doing it ... I love getting blown," he beckoned with his other hand. I wasted not a second. I bent to his spread thighs and peeled down his jeans. His cock waved in the air above my eyes. "You like them legs, don't you?" he beamed. "I want to feel all that hair and muscle around my face while I swallow that choker," I whispered. "Climb on, babe ... it's all yours," he whispered. He took my head in his hands and slid his cock into my mouth. There was still the bitter flavor of the lube on his shaft. His cock-head was salty-sour with log-juice. Nature's best lube. My jaws ached to get him into my mouth. He lay back, luxuriating at my touch and my tongue. He rubbed his meaty, fur-lined thighs around my face. His gentleness excited me as much as his brutal male beauty. "Mannnn ... no broad's ever got me so far down ... fucking great ... yeahhh," he sighed. He raised his big body up off the bed with each slow thrust into my gullet. His balls had such long shaggy hairs on them I felt like my chin had a new beard. His sack swelled up and tightened, making his balls into one big bulge. His foreskin slithered back and forth, covering and uncovering his cock-head as I slurped on it. Then I took my hands from his thick thighs and took his foreskin in my fingers. I spread it wide and licked the inside of the slimy hood. My tongue lapped all around the inside, grazing his cock-head. He bucked and rocked and sighed approval. "Man ... no one's ever been so fucking good on my cock ... Jezesss!"

I could tell he was getting close to cumming. He huffed and grunted, then whispered, "Careful ... I going to cum." But I knew oral sex was pretty safe so I wouldn't lift my wet mouth off his cock. "Watch it ... watch it ... aahhhhh," he couldn't hold back, his load spurted to the back of my throat. Long thick ribbons of hot pudding slid into my mouth as I slurped him dry. The smell of sweat from his over-heated balls filled my nose. I rubbed them in my hands to savor the smell later, by myself. I had become his scum-bag ... taking his load and log and holding it ... making it part of me. He finally stopped shooting and flopped back. "I tried to stop you ... before I shot," he gasped. I was still licking his cock and under his balls for the best sweat of all. "It's ok ... that acids in the mouth and stomach neutralize the virus cock-hair, thigh-hair, and I slid my tongue down lower to taste his ass-hairs. I was surrounded by fur and hard as a rock. "I think that thing of yours needs to blow ... what you want to do about it?" he asked. I raised my head. "I thing I want to be another skin around your cock ... with my ass." I climbed on top of him. He wrapped his arms around me hugging me close to his chest. "Gotta safe?" he asked. We both chuckled. He knew there was a pile of them by my bed. I lubed his cock. The rings were shining from my spit and his sweat and his cum.

I slid the latex onto his shaft. He sat up while I adjusted the safe as far as it would go. Maybe halfway. "Yeahh ... easy ... don't bust it ... now climb up in my lap ... now ride it," he whispered. I wondered if he liked women to sit on it, too. I took a deep breath and pressed my shit-hole against his cock-head. The lube made the safe slippery enough for me to manage getting it in. Jesus, it was like a baby's fist in my ass!

I slid slowly down on it. "Ahhh ... shit ... I know it's busted! Because it feels sooo good in there," he lamented. I slid off, removing the shredded safe. "Long as you don't cum in me it's ok ... I'll let my mouth handle that load ... be yours snakeskin again." He grinned, "You're on ... really," and he laughed. When was the last time I had laughed during sex? I couldn't remember. I lubed his fat meat again and slid into his lap. He was like my own over-sized teddy bear. I hugged him tight and rubbed my body against his furry chest. His cock felt like it was poking into my lungs!. I wrapped my arms around his shoulders and braced for the ride. He scissored his thighs open and closed, sending his meat way up in there. My cock rubbed against his belly and I loved the feel of all that fur on the underside of my cock-shaft. It wouldn't take much more of his ass-pounding to make me cum. He had his head against my neck. Sweat poured off his big skull. I kissed his hard neck and shoulders. He rode higher and harder into, me. I knew it was sending me over the edge and then he kissed my neck! He never touched my cock, but his unexpected affection exploded my load all over his chest and belly. I was surprised at how pleased he was. "Yeahhhh ... good man ... didn't even have to touch it ... Stash's pork pushed it right out of you. Oooooo ... yeah ... I'm getting close." I slipped off him. I wiped his cock off with my shorts, then dove for the load. He still sat up, letting me bury my face in his thigh fur. He rode forward into my mouth. "Yeah ... yeah, Babe ... it's cumming be my scum-bag ... take it all." He pressed my face into his lap and I got his log all the way down this time. He gasped and let it happen. Another gusher in my gullet. "Yeahhhh ... mannnnnn you got it all, babe ... Jezzzzsssss!" he heaved and bucked as the last syrupy gob went into my mouth.

"Man," he wiped the sweat from his pits and body, "ain't never cum twice so fast ... I'm going to need that meal you made to get my strength back again," he grinned at me. I got up and gave him a towel to wipe off with. "Want to shower before dinner?" I asked him. "I mean if you don't then I can love the smell of you all through dinner ... gives me an appetite." He grinned. "Good ... I can never eat bare-assed at home. Give your eyes a feast, too," his outrageous confidence in his looks dazzled me. We ate naked, and the smell of pasta and pits and pricks filled the air. My mind was still running through the fantasy of lying between his thighs while he fucked a woman, and I am lying there, waiting for his load. Something told me it wasn't impossible.

We sat bare-assed, facing each other over my pasta. He ate, chomping huge gulps. He wiped his mouth, and put the big white cloth napkin back on the table. He could see how much I loved looking at his naked body. His cock never went completely back into his foreskin. It's pink-white head peeked out at me all during dinner. He delighted himself that I loved the sight and smell of him so much. "I can see how it would feel fucking easy to like another guy ... you like me just as is ... I don't have to shave, put on a suit, cologne and mousse, I just lay back bare-assed and reeking of fucking, and you like me," he beamed. "Nope...I love you that way ... raw and natural," I stuffed one last mouthful through my lips. He chuckled and the folds of furry belly heaved. I was getting excited again. "Mmmm ... your a trip Richard ... this has been quite a fucking night ... like a bolt out of the blue you come. You make me feel great, put me in a story, feed me too. What more could I ask?" He leaned back and rubbed his full tummy. "Anything you want," I smiled. His grin told me all I needed to know. □

... thanks for worrying." "Yeah ... well, we want to spread God's gifts ... not a curse." He smiled, his bone was still hard. "Mmm," was all I could muster. I just kept eating him, his hard-on showed no signs of passing. "I should have you around when I'm fucking a broad ... then I wouldn't have to wear a snakeskin. I could slip it out of her and let you eat it all." He was still hard, laughing and enjoying the lavish licking. "Yeah ... I'd be you own personal snakeskin," I grinned. I still kissed and licked the reeking skin and hair of his balls. They were descending now, satisfied with spewing their load. His sack filled my palm. I was burying myself in ball-hair,

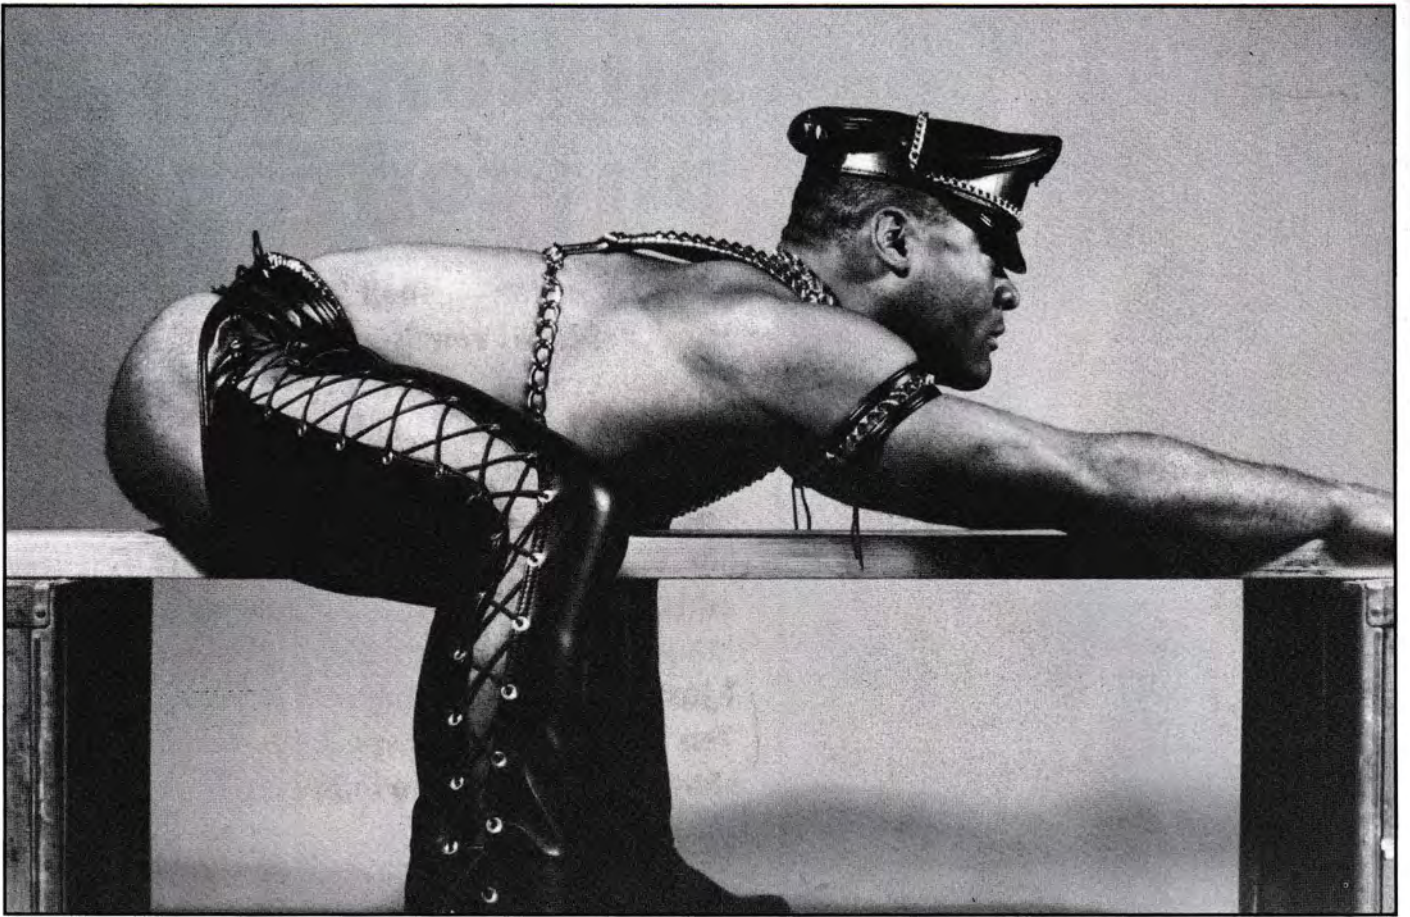

Sutton photography

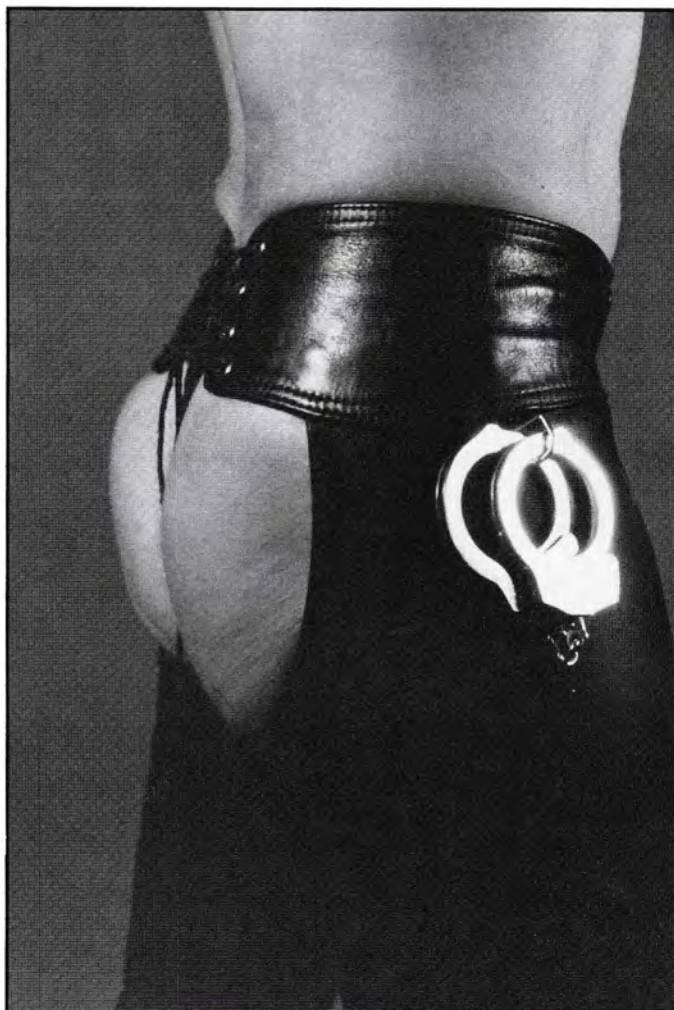

Stephen Sutton—called "photographer to the Hunks of San Francisco" by the SF Bay Times—creates a stir every time he has a show (as he did during Leather Pride Week) at the SF Eagle. He says he enjoys doing all kinds of photography, including portraits, commercial work, nudes, and leather, but adds, "I have a great time creating artistic images of men in leather. It gives me a feeling I just can't get shooting other types of men." Ten images with that special feeling are shown on this and the following four pages for your enjoyment.

LEATHER BULLETIN BOARD

COUNTDOWN ON SPANNER

Supreme Court in England to Hear SM Case

As you may know, in December 1990 the British Courts heard a case (known as the Spanner case after the Operation Spanner police investigation) which was brought by the Obscene Publications Squad against 16 gay SM players. They were found guilty of assault and aiding and abetting assault both on each other and on themselves. The Trial and Appeal court judges accepted that all of them had consented to the activities, but argued that "the question of consent was immaterial" and upheld the convictions.

The result of the Rulings, which made new law in England, is that consenting sexual activity that causes more than "transient or trifling" marks or pain is now a criminal assault. This has grave implications for everyone who does SM. The judges argued that they had to draw a line on what "was acceptable in a civilized society" and that "somasochistic libido" was not a "good reason" for people "to do this sort of thing to each other."

This December, the Spanner defendants' final appeal comes before the Law Lords, the UK equivalent of the US Supreme Court. This Appeal, brought by five of the men, is the last opportunity for this Ruling to be challenged under British law. If it fails, many SM acts will be illegal and five men will go to prison for up to three years.

Countdown On Spanner was formed in August of this year to try to arouse public support and encourage the Law Lords to overturn the Ruling. It is a mixed sexuality SM rights campaign which meets weekly. Countdown organized an International Day of Action, and people attending Living in Leather participated by protesting outside the British Embassy in Chicago. On November 28, Countdown will present Europe's (and the world's?) first SM Pride March. The march in central London will be followed by an indoor rally and "a big party!"

As you can imagine, Countdown on Spanner needs people to show up at public events—numbers mean something, after all. But, if you aren't going to be in London on November 28, there is still something you can do. The obvious: send money. If you send a donation, Countdown will send you a complete information packet on the Spanner case. They don't say how much of a donation they need in order to do that, but I would strongly recommend that you send at least $30.00 to cover producing and sending the packet and leave at least a few bucks for the local expenses of the campaign.

Write/send money to: Countdown on Spanner, 69 Cowcross Street, London EC1M 6BP.

Note: Spanner is British for wrench, as in "Throw a monkey wrench (spanner) into the works."

Note #2: Don't think that Spanner means nothing to you if you don't live in the UK. Cases like this one tend to encourage our enemies in other countries—like the US, for example. In just the past few weeks, we have been informed of a Federal sting perpetrated against a Pennsylvania video producer, a classified ad respondent who was visited by the FBI when his response was sent to an FBI agent (although we don't know whether the agent placed the "cop fantasies" ad or just managed to intercept a letter to the advertiser), and the Boston police who busted the Thunderhead SM party not so long ago are at it again, busting a vanilla JO party most recently.

BLACKfire Seeking Coverman

Black Leatherman To Be Featured on Special Issue

Blackfire Magazine, the recently introduced, erotic bi-monthly featuring African-American men is currently conducting a search in Northern California for a model to appear on the cover of its upcoming issue on Black men in leather. The search will culminate with a contest called "Ebony in Leather" to be held at Cocktails, 201 Ninth Street, San Francisco, at 6:30 PM on November 21. Well-known activist, event promoter, and leather titleholder Gregory Adams is producing the event in cooperation with Graylin Thornton, an active member of the Southbay leather community and a contender for the Mr. Southbay Leather title.

Any African-American male into leather who lives in Northern California and is over 21 is eligible to enter the contest. Advance entry forms are available from Cocktails and at the RoB San Francisco gallery and leather shop (22 Shotwell Street, near 14th). Prizes for the winner include cash, a VCR, a gym membership at City Athletic Club, and gift certificates from G. W. Finley Clothing, RoB San Francisco, a hair stylist, and erotic photographer Stephen Sutton. The winner and the first two runners up will also be treated to a dinner with IML Lenny Broberg.

Although the event is mainly a contest to name a coverman, it is also meant to be a fund raiser for AIDS/HIV charities, and will include a live condom demo as an educational entertainment. Tommi Rose, a regular at Finocchio's will also entertain.

Adams says, "It's about time that we have an event specifically designed to celebrate the African-American leatherman. For too long, we have been on the periphery of the San Francisco leather community ... Graylin and I are extremely proud to be part of making this happen."

Advance tickets to "Ebony in Leather" are $5 at Cocktails, RoB San Francisco, and through the producers. Tickets at the door will be $7. For more details, call Gregory Adams Presents (415) 864-0454.

March on Washington: 4-25-93

Time Is Running Out for Plans to Participate

You've been hearing about it for a long time, now it's getting late, you have to decide to become involved, and get involved. There is an SM/leather/fetish contingent in the march, and you don't want to miss being part of that. Besides, there will be a national SM/leather/fetish conference on Saturday, April 24, the day before the march. The conference—workshops, leather market, lectures, etc.—will be held at the Departmental Auditorium with a party at Tracks.

Donations are requested to pay such expenses as the rent on the Departmental Auditorium, mailings, etc. But, by now, the most important thing each of us can do is sort out our plans, and get to DC for the march and conference (and all the associated partying, of course).

Rooms have been set aside at special rates (April 23-26 only) for people who identify themselves as members of the leather contingent at Quality Inn (800) 368-5689, Holiday Inn (800) 821-4367, Guest Quarters (800) 424-2900, and the Inn at Foggy Bottom (800) 462-4455. Special travel arrangements for the leather contingent are being handled by Mike at (800) 622-6988.

International March on the UN

UN Protest Slated During Stonewall 25 Events

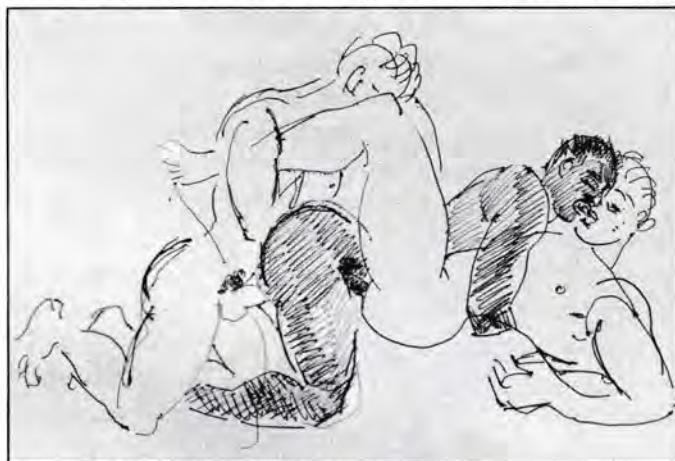

Activists representing lesbian, gay, bisexual, and AIDS-related organizations throughout the US will meet January 15 to 17 in Dallas to help build the International March on the United Nations to Affirm the Human Rights of Lesbian and Gay People. The March and Rally will be the largest of several hundred events planned for June and July, 1994, in New York City and around the world to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the Stonewall Rebellion. Organizations planning events are being encouraged to provide information to conference participants.

This information will also be added to the Global Media Calendar, a comprehensive listing of events related to Stonewall 25. This networking is expected to contribute to the success of all the events. To provide information you have, and to request additional information about the plans for the International March on the United Nations, write to International March, 208 West 13th Street, New York, NY 10011-7799.

After the Duncan Grant showing, somehow shifting worlds, and somehow not, the same gallery opens Tom of Finland: Retrospective, A Memorial Exhibition From Private Collections. Tom's art will be exhibited November 3 to 28, open Tuesdays through Saturdays, noon to 6:00 PM.

George Dudley, a Director of the Leslie Lohman Gay Art Foundation and curator of this show says, "No other gay artist is as widely known throughout the gay world as Tom of Finland, yet very few have actually seen any of Tom's original works. This show will offer the opportunity to view a number of rare, seldom seen drawings from private collections."

A typical, outstanding Tom image from 1989.

Two of the 30 works in the show are on loan from the Tom of Finland Foundation in Los Angeles. Of course, the Foundation offers Southern California visitors and residents endless opportunities to see Tom's originals, but a New York showing is extremely rare.

ROUGH STUFF

BREAKING DOWN BARRIERS

by Bill Costomiris

Barrier: (Webster's) - (1) An obstruction; as a fence or wall; (2) anything that holds apart; as "shyness was a barrier between them"; (3) a boundary or limitation.

We can all recognize an obvious barrier such as a wall or fence, however we often can't (or refuse to) see barriers that are not physical ... mental barriers, to be specific.

By human nature we all have mental barriers. Some are instilled by our family background, others by our physical surroundings. Many of the barriers in our minds are so obscure we don't even realize they exist.

Opening others' minds to new and different ideas is not an easy task and can be frustrating, to say the least.

We in the leather/SM fetish community often consider ourselves to be open-minded by the very nature of our existence. I, as a gay male, do not believe we are all that accepting of others ... for instance women in leather, gender modification, ... etc. We all have our own barriers, some consciously, others subconsciously.

I considered myself to be accepting of anything and everything. While attending LIL VI, a very strong mental barrier revealed itself to me. As a homosexual male, I never considered that having sex with a female could possibly be enjoyable.

Because of my own assumptions, I had blocked out any possibility of variations from what I had always been exposed to. Boy! did I get an awakening. When I was approached by a female who expressed a desire to engage in sexual activities, my initial reaction was, "Hell, no, I don't have sex with women!"

This was not the first time I had met Billy. Our first meeting was earlier that day during a panel discussion. When I first saw her I was convinced she was a guy ... a very hot guy .. with all the boy features that catch my eye. I watched her with great interest and was quite surprised when she spoke during the panel, to discover that this person is a girl not a goodlooking, well built boy. Billy approached me later that evening and my mind had blocked out the physical features that had attracted me. (Stereotypes often keep friendships from prospering.) Billy explained herself and her mindset. What she wanted was to be treated like a gay boy. Even after this explanation, my MIND would not accept the possibility.

That night as I tried to sleep a voice kept eating at my mind and I didn't sleep. The next day I talked with many people about this phenomenon. Several offered advice; some suggested trying it. I looked up my tormentor, and we continued our conversation of the previous evening. After many hours of rationalizing, we destroyed that wall or barrier. This is not to say we had sex, because sex was no longer the issue, but the entire point had changed to one of assumptions and mental barriers. I was faced with a bigoted attitude within myself. I had always assumed that all lesbians had sex only with women, and gay men with men, etc.

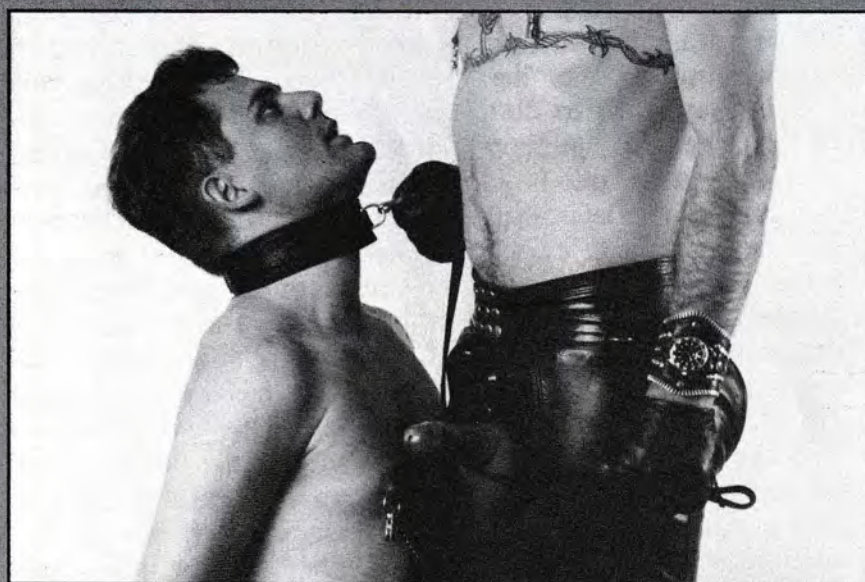

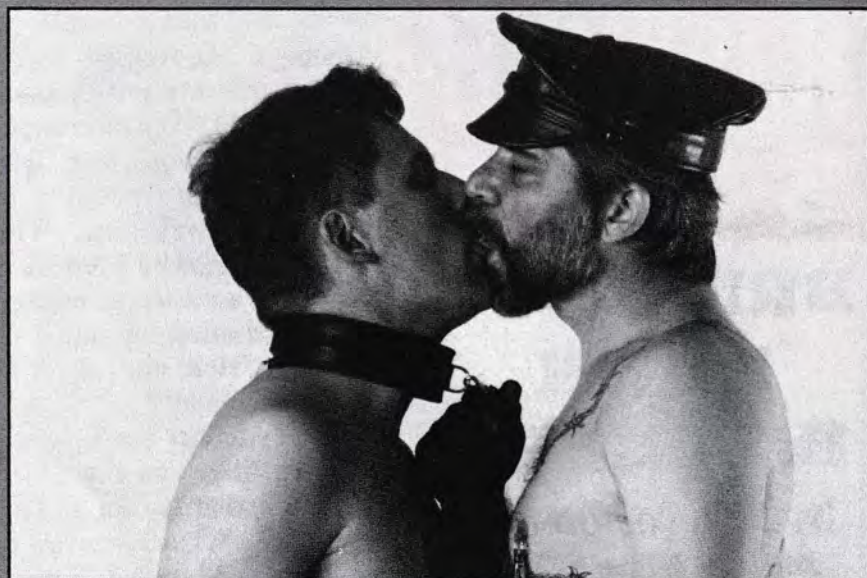

Here was a person, obviously of the female gender, who wanted to play with gay man, as a gay man. I thank Billy for putting me through twenty-four hours of pure mental hell, and helping me destroy the gender-assumption barrier in my mind.

Mental barriers, in my opinion, are the very foundations of our problems with the people who refuse to accept us. As I have matured in my role as an activist I have often had the opportunity to talk with people who do not understand the gay lifestyle. In many cases, if individuals are willing to listen and be open-minded, a very little bit of education can break down some of the barriers in their minds. I have learned that giving a little bit of information and allowing someone to adjust to a new idea is more successful than forcing an issue. Most mental barriers cannot be changed or destroyed by demands or force. Often they must be worn away gradually through education and understanding. When faced with a mental barrier, most people will deny, and even reinforce, that barrier, if they feel they are being required to accept a new or different idea.

I would like to offer some suggestions to help us all in coexisting in peace and harmony. First of all, don't ever assume anything; avoid stereotypes—there are always exceptions. Nothing is ever absolute—someone or something will always make a fool out of you! Second, and above all else, every person has a right to be who he or she is ... accept them for that, and don't criticize their differences. If we can be understanding and accepting of each other we will all be better people.

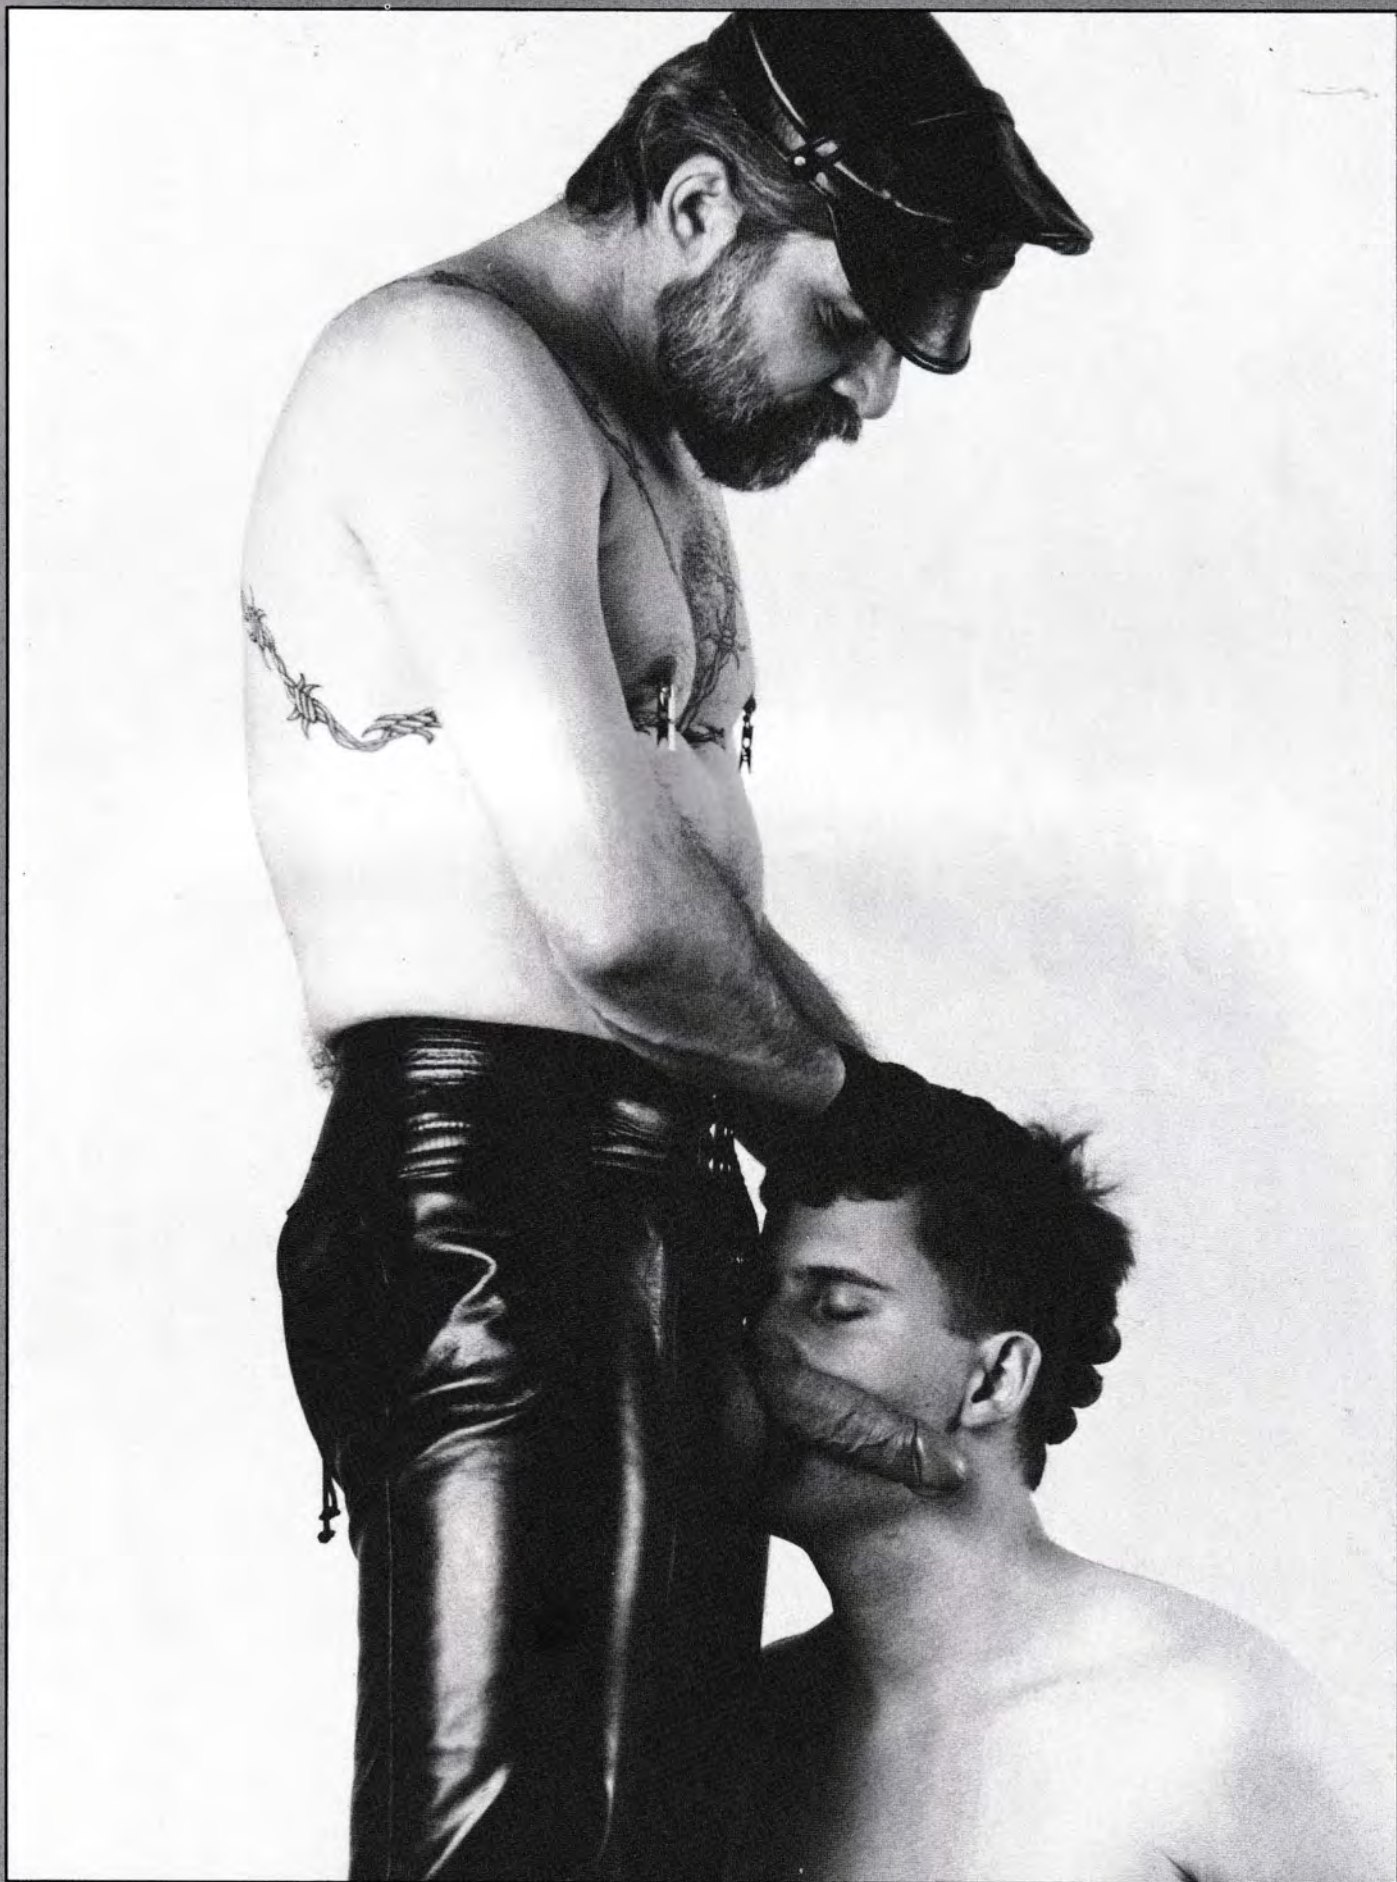

Billy, wherever you may be, I hope you read this and accept my deepest, most sincerely heartfelt thanks for making me a better person.

DRUMMEDIA

From SM 101 to Very Advanced Kinks

by Joseph W. Bean

Let's start at the very beginning, a very good place to start...and that means, Learning the Ropes by Race Bannon, subtitled "A Basic Guide to Safe and Fun S/M Lovemaking." Race, who is preparing a new column for Drummer, has put together a very comprehensive introduction to SM. Throughout the book, the accent is on the pleasures of SM, expressing the fun angle of putting SM fantasies into the realm of action. The text is carefully composed to be inclusive of players (and potential players) of both sexes and all sexualities, a fact which may be distressing to some Drummer readers. Nonetheless, if what you want is the information—just the facts, man—about how to get from imagining to doing, how to work out a scene that will be fun, and how to play with minds and bodies (or have them played with) safely, there is no better book available on the subject. If you're an outsider to the SM scene or are new to the scene, or if you know someone who is, you need to pick up a copy or two of Learning the Ropes. And, although there are a lot of home-made SM 101 pamphlets and booklets around lately, no one has yet published an SM instructional book as complete and informed as Learning the Ropes. In fact, there are very few people as able as Race Bannon to speak of SM so broadly and authoritatively. Luckily he pulled his stuff together and made a book of it.

Learning the Ropes by Race Bannon, Daedalus Publishing Co., Los Angeles, 1992. Introduction by Guy Baldwin, not illustrated, glossary. 159 pages, paper cover, $12.95.

They say that a book, movie, or play will succeed if the audience it reaches finds itself represented on the page, screen, or stage. If that's always true, then The Encyclopedia of Unusual Sex Practices by Brenda Love is going to be a major hit. In a strictly academic form, A to Z with no side trips, Love explains over 700 ways to get kinky. Hell, even if the book is meant to help psycho-pros understand kinky people, anyone kinky enough could pick it up and go shopping. Think you've been everywhere and done everything? Think again, or start paging through the Encyclopedia. Here's all the stuff you wished you could find in Britannica when you were growing up, and about a jillion things you wouldn't even have understood if they were there. Maybe you have played out an abduction fantasy, experienced erotic abrasion, and gotten hard from listening to spicy music (the first three entries: Abduction, Abrasion, Acousticophilia). At the other end of the alphabet, though, you'll find Zoophilia, sex with animals. That, in and of itself, may not be so especially surprising for Drummer readers (Think of "Hounded" in Drummer 119), but did you know there is actually a name for the practice of poking gerbils and other small animals into the a guy's butt? Well, there is, and there are names for half a dozen other zoophilic activities too. But the names of these unusual sex practices are just the beginning of each entry. Sometimes, you might wish for more details, but an encycloedia is not meant to be the most detailed source on each subject, just the basics... maybe, just a starting point.

The photos above have nothing to do with Drummedia. They are just a few of the excellent views discovered by visiting photographer Scott Beseman at the Folsom Street Fair. Thought you might need the encouragement to plan your 1993 visit.

The Encyclopedia of Unusual Sex Practices by Brenda Love, Barricade Books Inc., Fort Lee, NJ, 1992. Introduction by Michael Perry, PhD, ACS, illustrated, glossary. 338 pages, cloth cover, $29.95.

John Preston and John Preston, pretty good combination. If nothing else, minimum conflict, eh? Well, the Badboy imprint from Masquerade Books—the people who put out the new edition of Preston's Mr. Benson—have now released a book with two short Preston novels together. I seldom approve of two novels in one binding, even though it's cheaper, because it implies something of a connection or comparison, even when no such inference is foreseen by the publishers.

This time, it works. The Heir and The King are both sex-laden tales, but there is something else that is undeniably connecting the two works: A sense of the consequences of hypersexuality. In The Heir the consequences are peace and happiness for the whole world as the male and female remnants of the post-apocalyptic human race separate themselves into two societies, and the men evolve a culture of Masters and slaves. In The King the consequences are disastrous, except that even when sex leads to greed and manipulation, it also leads to a sort of joy, thanks to the fact that there really is love and loving service involved. Most peculiar. Wonderful, too.

I suspect I have told you before that I am not a great fan of John Preston, but if he wrote more things as unpretentiously erotic, as simple, and as clear-headed as these two stories, I'd consider his writing as great as his reputation.

The Heir/The King by John Preston, Badboy Books, New York, 1992. Includes essay by the author on his work. 226 pages, paperback, $4.95

A new magazine! Cuir, pronounced Queer, meaning leather in French, is a new publication from David Rhodes and Luke Owens of The Leather Journal. Cuir is scheduled to be published quarterly and, with Issue One as the model, it will have fiction, columns, photo spreads, and Drummer Tough Customer knock-offs in a section called "The CuirNext Door." So, to read about Master-slave things, piss, and a Top getting the Topping of his life, pick up Cuir. In fact, issue one offers several very cool items—fiction by Cain Berlinger, tattoos by Daimon, and a really excellent, humorous, three-page cartoon by Copper. Welcome, Cuir, to the still-too-small family of leathermen's mags.

BALLS: Clubbed balls & the Ball Club

If you've got balls, you've probably played with them one way or another, and you've probably let some other guys play with them, too. But, chances are, you haven't (yet?) played the way the guy in Balls (a video) plays.

This video, released by The Ball Club, starts off surprisingly, but maybe not too shockingly with the guy pounding his balls with his fist, then a rubber mallet. Already, it's getting interesting and we're no more than a minute or two into the tape. Then, not to ignore his cock, he slips a bolt, about 6" long by maybe 3/8" in diameter into his piss slit... all the way in.

There's a bit of pissing here and there, but that's not the point. For a few minutes, a second man appears to help pound our proud protagonist's balls, but he disappears pretty quickly. The tape is really about two things, smashing the balls with anything from fists and rocks to mallets and bulldozer blades, and fucking the dick with everything from smooth and threaded bolts to the handles of can openers and tea spoons. The urethra (the inside of the cock) doesn't take this kind of rough treatment all that easily, so there's a good deal of bleeding.

All in all, with the sound turned off to escape the buzz track that accumulates when tapes are "soundless," Balls, is one of the hottest videos I have ever seen. Totally homemade, no faces or names, no plot or actual interaction, just sizzling self-torture aimed directly at the balls and urethra. Whew!

For information about the Ball Club, Ball Club Quarterly, this and other videos, etc. write to B. C., P. O. Box 15001, Pomona, CA 91769. Membership in the Ball Club costs $42 in North America, $55 for people living elsewhere.

NOTE: The ball photos here are from the Target Studios Archive, not the BC video.

Reviewed by Joseph W. Bean

Each year around the time of Leather Pride Week, Mark I. Chester, master of erotic photography and a former editor of Drummer, turns his studio into Folsom Gallery for a group show of visual arts. And each year—rather than crystallizing into a more precise version of Chester's vision—the show bursts out in new, radically pertinent, urgently living directions... always within the range of the erotic. For 1992, the exhibition was called Sexart 2, reviving the name of a previous showing and the spirit of all five previous annual shows.

Sexart 2 was a triumph of assemblage on two distinct levels. First, each artist is represented by a relatively small sampling of his or her work. The collection on display for each is a more cogent message about in itself if you know the specific artist from previous work, but the facets of artists, twists of ideas, and expressions of energy are there for every viewer to see, regardless of personal history with the artists. Second, there is a solid thread running through the entire show, one which—because it changes color and texture at every turn—is more sensed than seen. However underplayed, though, Chester's hand in composing the show reveals a great deal about his ever-evolving sensibilities. He stretches always toward the furthest fringe of exploration, but in Sexart 2 he also weaves a pattern that proves the relevance and connectedness of this art from the edge of sexual pioneering to the everyday realities of ordinary sexual humans.

What the most competent editors do with anthologies of essays and short stories, Chester did gracefully with the art in Sexart 2—selecting now for evident relatedness and now for disparity of vision, choosing what fits one time and what jars by contrast another. I cannot hope to give you more than a suggestion of the affecting and transformative nature of the whole collection viewed slowly, in the quiet of the gallery, while the hubbub of the Folsom Street Fair was just one floor below.

GAVIN DILLARD, famous as the "Naked Poet," is also an artist. He works in many media, but has been somewhat focussed through the past year or two on creating and exhibiting The Dick of Death. The bronze sculpture, produced in a limited, numbered series, is a cross (standard Christian style) the longer arm (leg?) of which smooths and rounds and becomes a handsomely proportioned cock. The sculpture is attractive, but it seems more a piece for either touching or thinking about than viewing.

DUANE WAKEHAM, a retired professor of art known for his landscape paintings, was represented by a small group of male nude drawings. There is an arresting quality to these almost commonplace images. His treatment shows the models exultant in the viewer's attention, proud to be worthy of being examined, taking pleasure in being able to satisfy without the slightest trace of smugness.

TIM COLLINS, who has contributed some excellent photography to Drummer in the past, had four erotic self portraits in the show. Taken together, they seem to be a single work, and their subject—as demonstrated by the captioning handwritten around each image—is not Tim Collins per se, but the pull of positive, negative, and entirely neutral reasons for doing self portraits, photographically or otherwise. Impressive, but Collins wields a greater power when his lens is seeking out and magnifying the masculinity of other men.

WILLIAM RENNER. His photos in this exhibit are masterpieces of ambiguity. You look, slowly identify, then re-identify what you are seeing, or re-interpret the conditions in which the tiny area of anatomy must have been photographed.

CAMMIETOLOUI took the photos she exhibited while working in a "talk to a live nude girl" booth. There are snapshots of the peep-booth patrons. The people, their clothing, their responses to Toloui's camera (which was pre-arranged with them), and the absolute sameness of the setting, conspire to produce a remarkable document about voyeurism, with powerful subtexts about loneliness, depravity, clean-thinking and dirty-mindedness.

RICK CASTRO, whose photos recently appeared in Mach and in a book entitled Castro, showed a small selection of large-scale prints in what is his best style: glamour photography focusing on people and moments that are, to say the least, beyond the last hope of the usual definition of glamour. Watch for Castro, his best is yet to come.

BURTON CLARKE is a name Drummer readers should be familiar with. He has done some excellent illustrations for us, and was represented here by images in the dreamy, romantic, ultra-precise mode he has shown in our magazines. There is something humorous, something richly erotic, and also something coldly distant in Clarke's romanticism, but he handles a light-touch pencil with a skill that is very nearly unparalleled.

J. D.—not his real name—showed dolls in bondage and a portrait of his own cock so tightly bound that it's engorged condition seemed at first to suggest that it was made of the same plastic as the dolls. He says these are not the images he usually shoots. You have to wonder why. They're heart-stoppers, especially seen together this way.

ED FREEMAN's male nudes are almost portraits of the shadows of the male figure. The model is visible enough, and certainly beautiful enough in every photograph, but the attention is drawn to the shadow, the darkness created by the model's presence (if that phrase helps you get what I am attempting to report).

MARYANN CAMILLERI. I didn't see Camilleri's photographs live, but I got to see them in the video (more about that later), and I know there's something very real happening here. I hope that even though she lives in Eastern Canada I will get to see her work again soon.

J. B. HIGGINS showed photographs of the artist Michael Gretch. These are theatrical-sexual, political-erotic, dramatic-gender exploring, spiritual-antireligious-sex portraits photographed in settings created by Gretch. Where the found world leaves off and the created set begins we have no way of knowing. Where the artist-model blends into the background is unclear. Where the work is more Gretch or more Higgins, we're guessing. But the images are stirring, regardless of the technical questions they pose.

TOM MILLEA. The Millea photographs were from a series he calls "Jennifer Desmond," presumably the name of the model. Closer than full-figure, shot after shot, he seemed to be stating and underscoring a single message: There is something hard-edged and icy in a woman, something that is both unappealing and irresistible. Very unusual.

FREDDIE NIEM is from China, now living in the SF Bay Area. His photographs, both in Sexart 2 and his 1992 calendar, are of Asian males. His settings are studio work, never natural places or available light. The manipulations work wonders, demanding that the models not be dismissed as Asians, or non-Whites, or anything of the sort. He not only discovers the erotic lure of his subjects, but he hides it in plain view, inviting a hunt, one that he sees is well rewarded.

SCHUYLER PESCADA is a new name to me, but one I hope is familiar to leather dykes. Her photography is SM scene photography pushed in the direction of the energy, giving no quarter to the viewer who might be more interested in SM techniques. Women with women in high-powered erotic situations. Hot... but not male.

MAX LAURIE WHITE says the women in her drawings are lesbians. The convolutions of anatomy White draws are never unnatural, but they are very tightly controlled to communicate massive strength and a great potential danger. She showed one male figure, the same style, but used to express something simpler, more sexual, more vulnerable.

SCOTT TAYLOR & WILLIAM LLOYD made a 55 minute video called Rare Footage which I only sampled at the Sexart 2 showing. I can only say that the idea they were working with intrigued me, but I still didn't see the video...

GARY EPTING, a painter who has a rapidly growing reputation in the more-or-less mainstream art world, showed three stunning pieces. Chester set them apart in a separate room with a curtain and a sign warning even those attending Sexart 2 might choose not to view them. It would serve no purpose to try to describe the dark, hard, nearly-frozen images in the three paintings in detail, but you might get something useful from knowing what the images were: An apparent filming of a snuff film, and we're seeing the moment at which the sex has not yet stopped but the female model's life has—the cameraman continues to “roll.” A hideously violent play of some sort in a dingy cabaret setting—the audience is unmoved. A woman on a set of some sort, maybe to be photographed or filmed, in intense bondage and distress—the director is impassively giving additional orders to the immobile performer. Stunning work.

MICHAEL ROSEN, the photographer who gave us the books Sexual Magic: The SM Photographs in 1986 and Sexual Portraits: Photographs of Radical Sexuality in 1990 is now building a new book. The new collection, from which his Sexart 2 group was drawn, is called Sexual Art: Photographs that Test the Limits. In this suite there is some reference to Rosen's earlier work, some hint of portraiture, a great deal of contact with the previously titular Magic, but there is lot that is entirely new. Here we have extreme sex in progress, joyfully, even riotously in progress. Rosen's usual addiction to perfection in every image is still in evidence, presenting a strange question: How do these people keep their joyous smiles and deeply planted fists in place while Rosen arrives at the perfect image. Ahh, more of that Magic. When Sexual Art appears as a book, it will become an essential possession for seriously sexual people of all orientations.

MARK I. CHESTER, the ring-master of Sexart 2, showed some of his own photography, too. Chester's work always challenges the less-than-radical viewer to reorganize his or her ideas of sexuality, and usually adds dimension to the meaning of sex, and often pushes us to concede that all kinds of human energies can be blended with the erotic in real-life action.

And, again, MARK I. CHESTER: The thread mentioned earlier that runs through this entire show is still not something I can put an exact label on, but I think it is safe to say that it was spun in the workshop of Chester's imagination. Maybe, in fact, this strange capacity to fit art works together in a way that leads to each artist being seen in the best possible light, while still creating a show that has a recognizable wholeness is, in itself, an art form.

THE MENTIONED VIDEO: Mark made a video record of Sexart 2. It is a guided tour taped in a raw, hand-held, homemade way, but it is not so shaky or so raw that it interferes with its own purpose. The tape is, in fact, an excellent document of Sexart 2. Mark will sell copies of the tape by mail for just $25.00 (including shipping, handling, and taxes). His address is below.

THE 1993 EDITION: Mark I. Chester's Folsom Gallery will host another group show next September. If you are an artist working in the range of Mark's Sexart shows, in any medium, you might want to get in touch with him about having your work considered.

BOYS' CONTEST

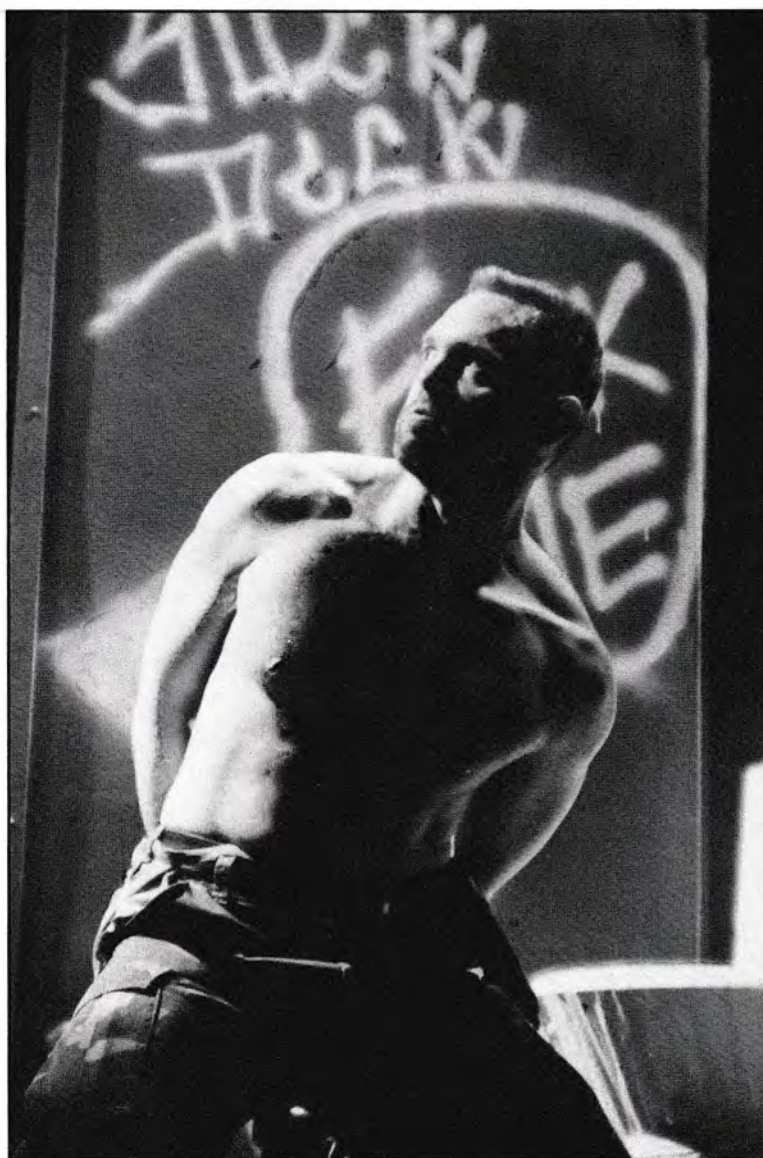

This year, for the first time, the boys' contest was rated by a panel of judges, and—although it was not one of the judging criteria—each boy was given an opportunity to perform a fantasy. They showed us everything from Santa Claus punishing a brat to a deeply moving and romantic memorial to a lost Daddy. Thanks, guys!

MEN'S CONTEST

With 15 men from four countries competing, the Mr. Drummer international finals became the best show in a great week of leather entertainments. Happily, the men reported that the on-stage competition didn't prevent them from discovering lots of ways to "cooperate" backstage—and elsewhere.

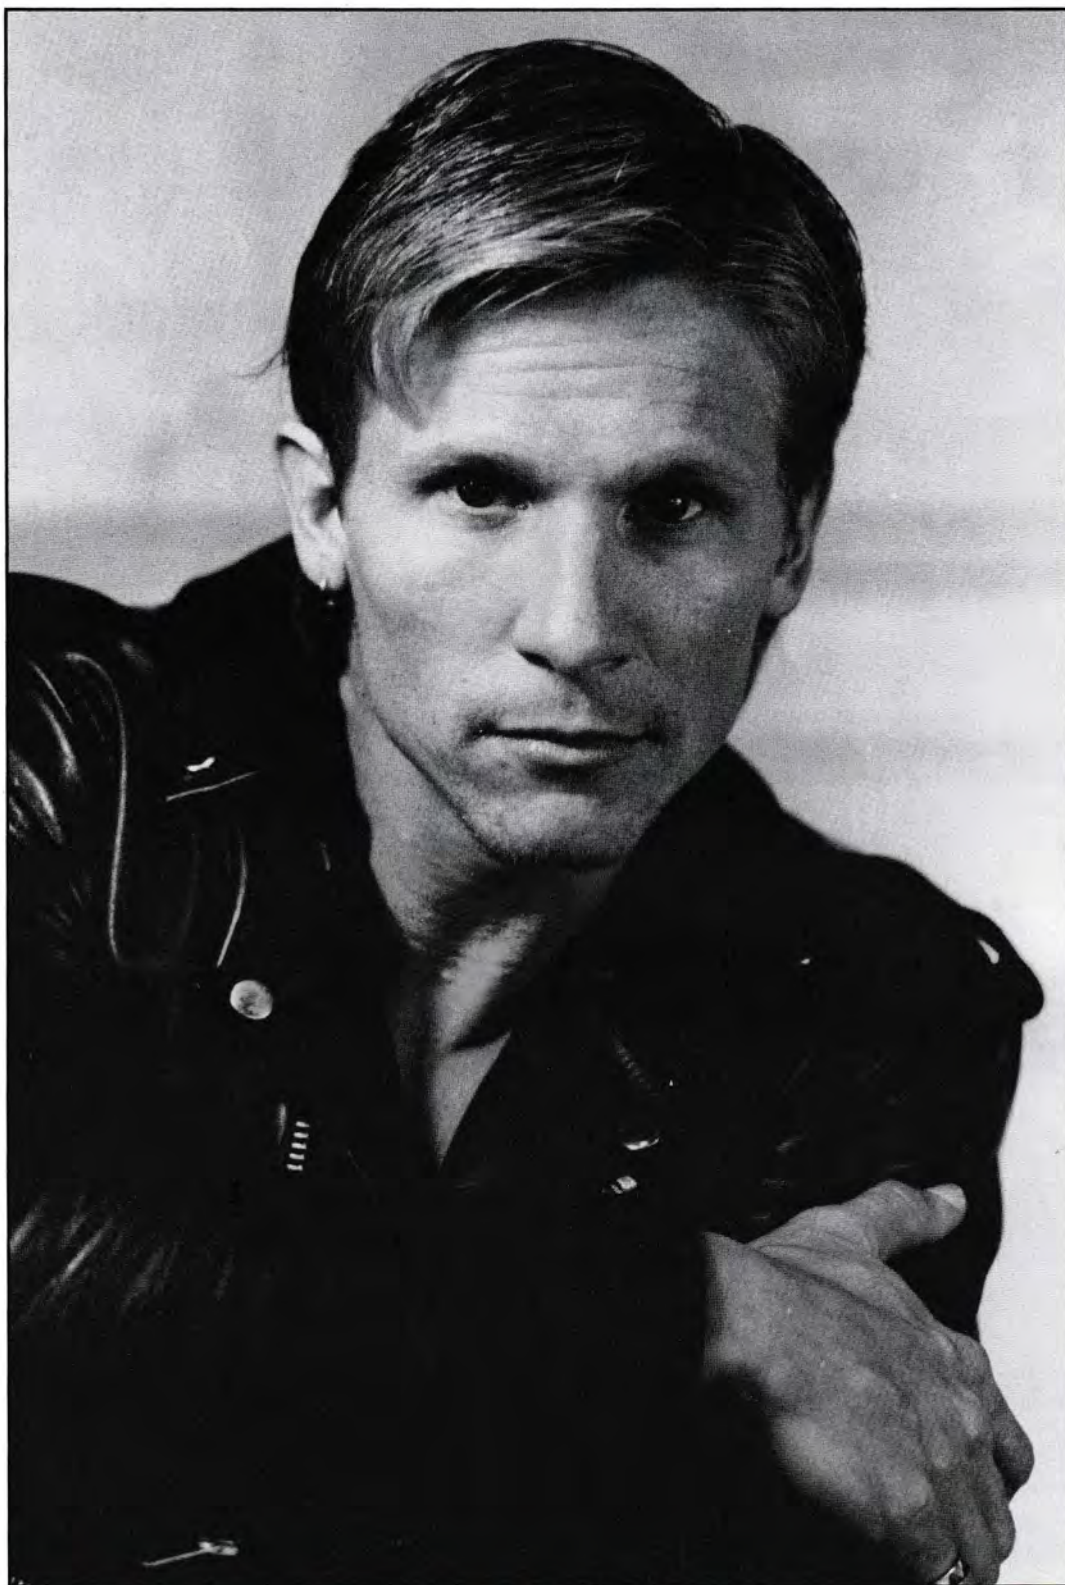

HOT SHOTS

At left: The new International Mr. Deaf Leather, Bob Donaldson. Bob is the second holder of this important title—after Phillip Rubin. Deaf leathermen were accommodated with signers at most Leather Pride Week events, as we (the hearing) learn to enjoy and understand our deaf brothers.

At left: Alan Selby (right) says that he is retiring from his ten-year long, exhausting (and very effective!) schedule of event-producing and fund raising for The AIDS Emergency Fund. We'll see, but he did hand over the producer's responsibilities for his popular Fetish and Fantasy Balls to San Francisco Leather Daddy VII, seen with Alan here. So, although there may have been some doubt before, the Fetish and Fantasy Balls will continue to be important elements in future Leather Pride Weeks. Don, already a tireless laborer on the AIDS benefit circuit can handle one more thing... If you want a thing done, they say, give it to a busy man. Thanks for all of it, Alan. Good luck, Don.

HOW TO PLACE YOUR AD IN DEAR SIR:

We accept ads, and changes to ads, only in writing. Sorry, we cannot do this over the phone. Submit ads on the form on the facing page or a copy of it. If you can't bear to cut up your issue of Drummer, and can't make photocopies, send us a note and we'll mail you copies of the form.

Box Numbers: $5.00 buys you a Drummer mail box for the life of the ad. Even after your ad expires, we will continue to forward replies forever—as long as we keep getting letters. (So, keep us posted if you move.)

Phone numbers: You can put your phone number in your ad for immediate response. WE WILL ONLY PUBLISH VERIFIED PHONE NUMBERS. Here's how to put your number in your ad:

Mail in your ad. (Don't forget to include the $2.00 phone verification charge.) About two weeks after you mail the ad to us, you call us at (415) 252-1195, during business hours (10:00 am to 5:00 pm Pacific Time, Mon.-Fri.) Be at the phone number you are placing in your ad. We will call you back to verify the number. If we have not verified your number within three months, we will publish the ad with a box number instead of a phone number.

You only need to verify a phone number once. Once it has appeared in Drummer, just attach a copy of the printed ad to your new ad if you wish to use that telephone number again. We will not publish voice-mail service numbers in personal ads. Don't forget to include your area code.

What else? Put anything you want in your ad, except references to minors, animals, prostitution, or drugs.

Expect about a 60-day delay from the time we receive your ad to when it appears in print. Remember, it takes time for people to respond too. So, for example, if you're looking for Christmas presents, it would be smart to send us the ad at least 120 days before Christmas. Also remember replies by international mail may take longer than domestic mail.

HOW TO REPLY TO A DEAR SIR AD:

How to reply to a Drummer box number: Answering a Drummer box number is easy, but the few rules we have are hard and fast, so observe them or else. 1) Seal your letter in an envelope on which you have written the box number on the back flap in pencil. 2) Put your return address on the envelope if you wish the letter returned to you should there be some problem with delivery. 3) Put the proper postage on the envelope: domestic postage is 29 cents for the first ounce, and 23 cents for each additional ounce. Letters going to Canada and Mexico cost 40 cents for the first ounce, 23 cents for each additional ounce. Foreign overseas postage is 50 cents for the first half-ounce, 45 cents for the second half-ounce, and 39 cents for each additional half-ounce. 4) Put the sealed letter(s) and a buck ($1) forwarding fee for each letter in another envelope, and mail it to: DESMODUS, INC., P. O. Box 410390, San Francisco, CA 94141-0390. Letters not properly prepared will be destroyed.

Desmodus will forward responses to ads in back issues. However, we cannot guarantee that old addresses will still be valid. Remember, the US Postal Service can not return undelivered mail without your return address. Keep in mind that people do move, and their needs and desires do change.

FANTASY ONLY (nothing real except for archival photos of atrocities or execution and occasional factual essays.)
Stories written by and for college educated persons with active imaginations. If you are squeamish or cannot divorce fantasy from reality, please don't waste your time and ours. Our violent fantasies are for cathartic release of aggressive feelings and anger, such as those arising from frustration in dealing with clients or customers.
If you have stories, essays, or drawings you would like to share, send them when you try us out. We ask all members of the Project to write stories about their own fantasies; this helps them become masters of their fantasy instead of plex to it. No photos or drawings of persons under the age of 21. If you're looking for plex of kids, go to a psychiatrist before you get into trouble.

How to become a Tough Customer

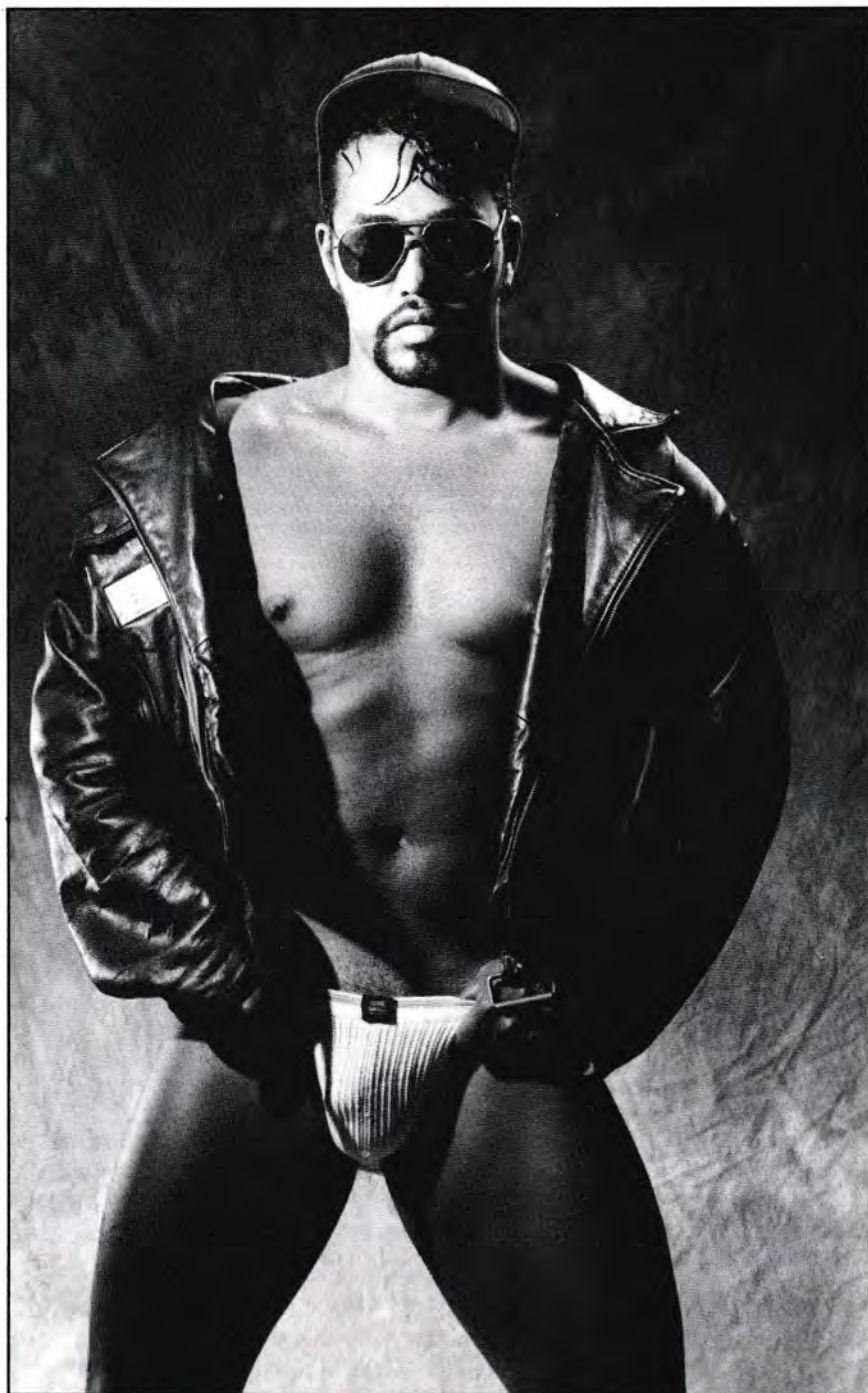

Tough Customer photos are contributed by DRUMMER readers. You're a Tough Customer aren't you? You should send us a picture. Send a black and white photo (color is OK if the contrasts are sharp) with your name and address printed on the back, along with a statement that you are of legal age and you want to be published as a TC. You may give your address for publication, or we will assign you a TC Box number. In effect this is a free classified ad with your picture in it, so let us know what you want to say, too. We can't show penetration, and photos can not be returned. Mail to: Tough Customers, PO Box 410390, San Francisco, CA 94141-0390.

How to respond to a Tough Customer

If the TC you want to respond to has an address, respond directly to him at that address. If he has a box number, follow the instructions on page 47 of this magazine under "How To Reply To A Dear Sir Ad."

How to get a lot more Tough Customer pictures

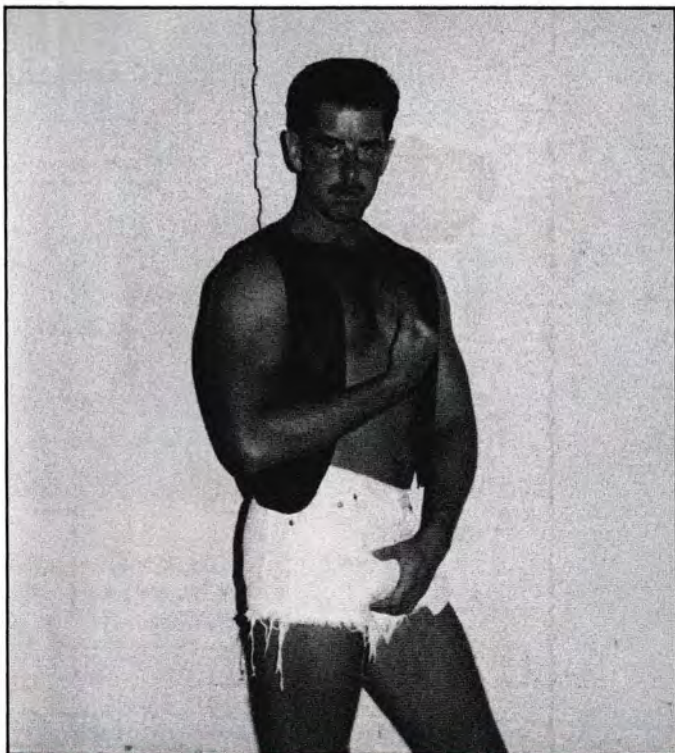

We have published three special, all-TC magazines so far (with more to come.) You can order TC3 by sending $6.95 + $2.00 S/H to the address above. (TC1 and TC2 also available $6.95 each, $3.50 total S/H for all three) CA residents add 8.5% sales tax. Or call (415) 252-1195 with your credit card order.
